Paul the Witness: Lesson 22 • Acts 24

The early Roman government was very interesting. The first person in Roman law was the citizen. The courts protected the citizens.

The burden of administration was left to the local authorities. The only time Imperial Rome became involved was when an outside cause became involved or when local authorities could not agree.

Chapter 24 gives us insight into how the Roman legal system worked.

Tertullus: False Accusations

24:1-9

Paul is charged personally “he is a pestilent fellow”

Paul has been charged in three different parts of the Roman world

Paul is charged politically

sedition and leading an illegal religion

Paul is charged doctrinally

profaning the Temple
